KAREN FREEMAN-WILSON, CIVIL RIGHTS AND POLITICAL LEADER, TO SPEAK AT LCC

Karen Freeman-Wilson, a political pioneer and advocate of the national drug court movement, visits Eugene as a guest of the Lane Community College Speaker Series, on Thursday, March 1, 2018, at 6:00 p.m. at the Center for Meeting and Learning, Building 19, 4000 E. 30th Ave., Eugene. The event is free and open to the public. Freeman-Wilson will share her experiences as a civil rights activist and community builder.

Freeman-Wilson is the first woman to serve as mayor of Gary, Indiana, and is Indiana's first African-American female mayor. She is the former executive director of the National Drug Court Institute and previously served as Indiana's attorney general. Her talk will focus on "Building Strong, Resilient Communities Through Education, Not Incarceration."

Freeman-Wilson's public service extends to state and national leadership positions. She is the first vice president of the National League of Cities and chairperson of the criminal and social justice committee of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

A graduate of Harvard Law School, Freeman-Wilson previously served as the director of the Indiana Civil Rights Commission, and as the presiding judge of the Gary City Court. She is a leader in the national drug court movement and served as the CEO of the National Association of Drug Court Professionals.

A short question-and-answer session will follow Freeman-Wilson's talk. The Lane Community College Speaker Series is supported by the Roberta Konnie Endowment Fund in the Lane Community College Foundation. The series seeks to connect the campus and community through educational and inspirational events as part of the college's mission to transform lives through learning.

Doors to the venue open at 5 p.m. For accommodations to attend the public event, contact the LCC Center for Accessible Resources at (541- 463-5150) (voice), 711 (relay), or AccessibleResources@lanec.edu.
